If Music Be the Food of Love By Denise Elam Dauw

It is happening. She can feel it. Every day she inches closer toward the inevitable feeling, like a raindrop falling into an abyss of water, lost forever. She is her mother's daughter, at least in this way, and it looms like a dark cloud. Waiting. Down in the fabric of her bones and gene deep... Relive the passion and romance of Mae, Jean, and Ellie--three ailing women whose lives were forever altered through the powerful presence of music, opening gateways to true love. Amidst their current illness, the women are separately visited by a man of alleged paramount significance. Who is this man? Is he the key to helping these women or can music unlock the answers in time to save them all? ""A travel through generations interconnected by the love of music and a story that defines the true meaning of love at first sight. Ms. Elam Dauw gives us an intelligent male character who goes above the call of duty for love. This is a story that charms audiences and proves that true love is worth fighting and waiting for!"" --Andrew Westerman ""This novel struck multiple chords with me, being at once sadly poignant and beautifully romantic. Ms. Elam Dauw's excellent narrative paints a vivid and endearing portrait of each one of her characters. I wanted to be in love and be loved in exactly the same way as Ellie (in Part 3). This is a very moving novel." --Wendy M. Hershey
